

Then Honors Himself came by. “I see no flood,” he said.

“What do you see?” Listener asked.

“I see a fool who listens to a frog.”

Listener did not say anything.

After a while, Honors Himself went away, laughing to himself.

But soon all the animal people told funny stories about the Great Flood. They laughed at Listener and Spotted Frog.

Listener paid no attention to them.

